“For the Common Good...We Must Find Our Common Ground”

Dear brothers and sisters, as for the future of interreligious dialogue, the first thing we have to do is pray, and pray for one another: we are brothers and sisters! Without the Lord, nothing is possible; with Him, everything becomes so! May our prayer— each one according to his or her own tradition— adhere fully to the will of God, who wants all men and women to recognize they are brothers and sisters and live as such, forming the great human family in the harmony of diversity. — Pope Francis

September 7—Rabbi Todd Thalblum, Temple Judah

Rabbi Todd Thalblum will join us for an evening of interreligious dialogue with a focus on the history of Judaism in America.

October 5—Pastor Craig Brown, First Lutheran Church

Catholics and Lutherans have spent 500 years apart. Now voices on both sides say it's time for some healing. Discover what we can learn from the past and our commonalities moving forward in Christ.

January 4—Fr. Mark Ressler, St. Elizabeth Ann Seton

*“Live simply, so that others may simply live.” –St. Elizabeth Ann Seton
Join us for a night celebrating the Feast Day of St. Elizabeth Ann Seton and learn more about how she lived a life always working for the common good.*

February 1—Imam Taha A. Tawil, Mother Mosque of America

Imam Taha A. Tawil will join us for an evening of interreligious dialogue with a focus on the history of Islam in America.

March 1—Fr. Fred Shaheen, St. George Orthodox Church

Roman Catholic and Eastern Orthodox Churches split in 1054. Despite many years apart, we continue to hold many of the same beliefs and traditions. Join us for an evening of interreligious dialogue exploring our common ground in Christ.
